

The Laborer

Opp. Howland's

1044 Main Street

WILL YOU PAY

$5.98

For Linen Jumper Suits in the $8 Class

Here is a splendid chance to add one or two of these Smart, Becoming Embroidered Linen Jumper Suits to your wardrobe.

A Timely offer—a Worth While Saving. White and the liked colors in these garments.

THE FLASH FOUNTAIN PEN.

slips in the pocket. The price is but $1.50. Various size points, including stub. A good pen to buy for medium price. Sold at

JACKSON'S BOOK SHOP, 986-988 MAIN STREET

DIED.

WILLIAM L. In this city, on Friday, June 18, 1909, at her home, No. 24 Blackstone street, Emily C. Blackstone, aged 16 years, 5 months, 10 days.

THE PARK CEMETERY

Located in North Bridgeport, on sandy ridges. Carriage entrance leading street, or cars from Reservoir. Improved lots for sale on easy terms. Two telephones at Cemetery. Superintendent's Office, 975; Superintendent's House, 514, or City Office, 988 Court Exchange, Telephone 782.

MONUMENTS

Placed by pneumatic cutting and polishing tools.

HUGHES & CHAPMAN,

986-988 COURT EXCHANGE, Telephone 782.

BARGAINS IN

FLOWERING

PLANTS

GERANIUMS 10c each

and hundreds of Bedding Plants

at reasonable prices

at JAMES HORAN & SON

Florida

WEDDING

BOUQUETS

and

DECORATIONS

JOHN BECK & SON

Tel. 599-3. 985 MAIN STREET

Dr. and Mrs. John C. Lynch and son, who have been in Europe, returned to this city today.

One Mrs. Margaret M. Hill, who was in an upper apartment, just settled down to his home, a woman of the house, and the room, seemed for the was asked. "What do you want?" she asked. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

"I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise. "I want to see you," he answered, with some surprise.

ORPHANS TO BE ENTERTAINED BY LEWIS B. CURTIS

Since the announcement of the plans of the Automobile Club of Bridgeport for Orphans' day, made yesterday, Lewis B. Curtis, treasurer of the Curtis family, has come forward with a proposition to entertain the orphans at his home in Southport. This generous offer on the part of Mr. Curtis has been gladly accepted by the Automobile club, as it means that the children will have a much happier time than they could have in any other way.

Mr. Curtis' residence is very spacious and surrounded by attractive lawns. As soon as the cars arrive after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

The Automobile club appreciates the co-operation of Manager Paul Boynton in the matter of the Orphans' day, and is pleased that the idea of visiting the island was first broached.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

Dr. C. Lincoln Banks, chairman of the committee, has had the offer of several cars for Tuesday night, and after the ride about the city, refreshments will be served on the verandas and grounds. Mr. Curtis is the president of the Connecticut Society, S. A. R., and is building an elegant home at Seaside park. The little folks of the Orphan Asylum will long remember his thoughtfulness in providing for this treat.

FAIRCHILD WHEELER'S DAY IN COURT AND WHAT HAPPENED TO HIM

Talkative Lawyer Did Not Help Case of Bridgeporter Fined for Auto Speeding.

"That's Funny," Observed D. Fairchild When Costs Were Taxed at $4—"They Charge Only $2 in Bridgeport," Said He.

The first conviction for automobile speeding on evidence obtained by a Hartford policeman was reached in Hartford today when D. Fairchild Wheeler, of the Bridgeport Land & Title Company, was fined $10 and costs for running his automobile down Asylum avenue Sunday at an improper speed. Mr. Wheeler was arrested by Motor-cycle Policeman Whitehead after the latter had chased him all the way from Woodland street to Ann, with his speedometer registering forty-five miles an hour while he was catching him and from thirty-five to thirty-seven miles an hour while he was simply trailing him. Mr. Wheeler was defended by Charles Welles Gross, who spent almost an hour in the case, bringing in Mr. Wheeler's past history as a model automobilist; the fact that his car couldn't much more than creep if it wanted to; and the fact that the police were so influenced by speed that they could carry on a pleasant conversation about the residences on Asylum avenue while the car was being driven. The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

The policeman did not warn the automobilist when he first saw him. The arguments were good—but the policeman was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go. The case was going to let the case go.

BROTHERS WHO HAVE MADE FAME AND FORTUNE, AT HOME

The Wright Boys Almost Panic Stricken by Size of Immense Crowd in Home City.

Dayton, June 18.—Wilbur and Orville Wright, well known state and city medals this morning in the presence of 20 or 30 acres of neighbors. The hardest part of the reception from the standpoint of the brothers was the handshaking. They had counted on a few hundred of their friends, but when they saw 10,000 patriots pushing and striving to get within two or three companies of soldiers and squads of police in their efforts to get into the building, genuine panic, seized them. They were really at a loss for the hands of more than 3,000 persons, who passed before them, but the rest had to be satisfied with bows and smiles.

At the fair grounds this morning, Brig. General Allen of the army signal corps presented the medals authorized by Congress.

Governor Harmon in bestowing the state medals, waxed enthusiastic. "You men," he said, "have done more than any other men in the world the problem of aerial navigation. We hope and believe that by your studies, experiments, inventions and appliances, you are opening up a new world for the benefit of all mankind."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

The medals of the city of Dayton were presented by Mayor Edward Burkhardt. "With the world's attention turned to their genius; with Kings and Queens showing them the highest honors," he said, "our hearts beat with pride and admiration because of the show to the world's best and best type of American citizenship."

HOWLAND'S

Entrances on Main street, Fairfield avenue and Cannon street.

Bridgeport, Conn., Friday, June 18, 1909. The Weather—Fair tonight and tomorrow.

Dainty white hats for now.

With the summer gown, a white hat is in harmony.

A white hat, too, is cool of looks as well as cool in fact. It has attraction of goodness as well as prettiness. Above all, it is summery.

White lingerie hats in new sailor and mushroom styles; White chip hats trimmed with the new-fashion broad wings;

New white roll-brim sail-ors,—$1.25. Second floor.